EX-PRESIDENT APPALACHIAN CLUB VISITOR

Harlan P. Kelsey, Inspects Lincoln Park
Site.

IS A REVELATION

Eastern Man is Favorably Impressed With Gap Section as a Site for Unit in Park System.

Harlan P. Kelsey, representative of the Appalachian Mountain Club was a visitor in Middlesboro yesterday coming here from Knoxville. Mr. Kelsey is past president of the Appalachian Club and is one of the party of the national park commission whose members have been making an inspection of proposed national park sites in this section of the south.

Cumberland Gap and its environment came as a revelation to Mr. Kelsey as this was his first visit. Together with a party made up of several local men, he tramped over the mountains adjacent to the Gap; looked over the old earthworks that were placed there by their military occupants both Federal and Confederate sixty odd years ago and took in the magnificent view of Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky as seen from the height of the Pinnacle.

Mr. Kelsey stated to a representative of the News last night while resting at the Cumberland after his tramp over the heights, that the view from the mountains above the Gap was one of the most beautiful that he had ever seen. He was especially enthusiastic over the view up the Powell valley where the beautiful fern land of Virginia lays spread out before the climber who mounts the acclivity. He was greatly interested in the military occupation of the Gap during the Civil war and the fact that Boone and his companions first passed through on their way to establish the first settlement west of the mountains, appealed to him through its historic value, as a spot for a national park.

Mr. Kelsey outlined the scope of the work of the national park commission and the efforts to preserve the wild places in the United States before everything that stands as it was before the coming of the white man, is desecrated and spoiled by commercial exploitation. One or two, perhaps more, national parks will be established in the Appalachian sector by the park commissions. It will not be a matter of quick action and the aspects of the different sites will be gone over thoroughly before a decision is made by those who will make the final choice of location or locations.

"You may say," Mr. Kelsey said, "that I consider the Gap one of the most beautiful places I ever visited but that I consider its being littered up with signs as in bad taste. One of the first things done by Wisconsin when it established its park system was to eliminate the signs along the highways and on natural objects. A state law was passed in that state fixing a penalty on such desecration and the result has been that Wisconsin is a tourist mecca. This section with the completion of your roads, is bound to have a large number of tourists and nothing that can be done to attract these people should be left undone." Mr. Kelsey also commented on the Michigan law and the laws in other states that restricted the use of outdoor signs.

Mr. Kelsey, returned to Knoxville last night where he will join the party who will make an inspection of the Smoky Mountains. Mr. LeConte proposed park sites.

FUGITIVE WRITES VIEWS TO PAPER

Macedonian Rebel Not Awed by Price Placed on Head—Writes to Republicans.

By Associated Press.
BELGRADE, Aug. 6.—While the Serbian government is offering a price for him dead or alive, Todor Alexandroff, the Macedonian rebel leader, entered into Serbian politics the other day with an article on the first page of the "Republika," which made Belgradians rub their eyes.

After pointing out that in his opinion Serbians mistakenly ascribe the unrest in Macedonia to the incompetent Pashalik administration, to prove Macedonia from Bulgaria, to the "traitor" Raditch or to the "cruel" Alexandroff, Alexandroff writes, over his signature as a member of the Central Committee of the Internal Macedonian organization: "All oppressed nationalities who jealously guard their nationality are struggling shoulder to shoulder to attain their right to self-determination." After they have won their autonomy, they will be in a position to organize a great federated state with equal rights for all nationalities.

"Neither a powerful government, able to repress the activities of revolutionary bands, nor a good administration, can prevent the dissolution of imperialistic Yugoslavia. The oppressed nationalities in Serbia are struggling neither for the attainment of a strong chauvinistic government nor for a wise Serbian administration (two incompatible terms) but for their liberties.

"In closing I wish to quote the words of Mazzini in 1848 about the Austrians: 'You govern well is not what we desire, but that you depart.'"

Fern Lake Club Offi- cers Are Re-elected

The annual meeting of the Fern Lake Outing club was held at the Kentucky Utilities company office yesterday and the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year: W. H. Gagle, president; John Yeager, vice-president; W. E. DuPont and W. C. Stair, directors.

Blues Accept Chal- lenge Tannery Boys

The Big Ben Blues, the formidable diamond artists which constituted the Waterloo for the U. T. C. team Saturday, announce this afternoon that they are ready to meet the tannery boys in a return engagement Saturday. It is not known yet whether or not the game will be played on that date, but the exact time will be announced later.

The U. T. C. team was trounced for the first time Saturday when they pitted their strength against the denim squad. The defeat was a sad blow to their pride which was founded on a season of unbroken victories.

On Monday the Blaghamtown boys flung the gauntlet of challenge in the faces of the city industrial team and the latter have accepted it. The game is certain to be one of great interest and the public is cordially invited to witness it.

JACKSON, Ky., Aug. 6.—Seizing two revolvers from deputy jailers taking them from the court room to jail, three convicts who had appeared at a trial as witnesses escaped from the guards, firing as they fled.

The shots attracted all the peace officers in the court house. A hot pursuit resulted in the capture of the men after a chase of five blocks through the town.

Hargis Noble, William Noble and George Roberts, all convicted slayers, had just finished testifying at the trial of William Fletcher, charged with murder. Wesley Holbrook, deputy jailer, says they seized the guns and fired. Holbrook hurried to the court room where the trial was in session. Court was suspended while the jailer and other officers joined in the pursuit. The revolvers were still in the possession of the fugitives when they were captured.

FRISCO PLANNING HARBOR EXTENSION

May Extend Harbor 20 Miles—20,000
Acres Land to be Reclaimed
By Process.

By Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The water front of San Francisco will be extended 20 miles beyond its present limits for the development of a great industrial section if the United States government approves plans for dredging a deep-water ship canal south from Hunter's Point, in San Francisco, to Ravenswood in San Mateo county. The project is being pushed not only by San Francisco, but by every city and district for 50 miles down the peninsula to San Jose.

Besides dredging a channel, it is planned to reclaim 20,000 acres of tide-lands for industrial sites. The land would be reclaimed through use of the dredged earth.

Government aid has been asked only for the channel. The reclamation and wharfage improvements are to be undertaken by private interests, together with the state and the counties involved. The entire project will involve many millions of dollars.

San Francisco has a water front that is owned and operated by the public. Title to the property is in the state of California and harbor affairs are administered by a board of three harbor commissioners.

The city at present has 15 miles of berthing space for vessels, with 5,000,000 square feet of cargo area. The new facilities are intended to increase the harbor space to more than double and to provide a vast number of potential factory sites.

STATE FORESTER TO BE APPOINTED

William Jackson's Recent Appointment
Now Awaits Approval of Governor.

By Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Aug. 5.—Kentucky, without a state forester for four years, probably will have one shortly.

An act of the 1924 general assembly, instigated by Senator Newton D. Bright, democrat, Eminence, Ky., and approved March 25 by Gov. Fields authorizes the appointment.

Clell Coleman, commissioner of agriculture, appointed William E. Jackson, Lexington, forester on June 11. The appointment awaits Gov. Fields' approval.

The act authorizes the commissioner to appoint "with the consent of the governor for a period of two years, a technically trained forester who is a graduate of a school of forestry and who shall have both a practical and theoretical knowledge of forestry."

L. C. Flournoy, Morganfield, also is an applicant, it is understood at the governor's office.

Jackson is a graduate of Biltmore School of Forestry; he took a post graduate course in England and for the last six years has been connected with the federal forestry work; is 36, married, and has three children, Mr. Coleman said.

Former Gov. Edwin P. Morrow recommended abolishment of the position four years ago.

The last session of the general assembly made a $15,000 appropriation annually for forestry work in Kentucky.

Senator Bright's act provides that the game and fish commission may cooperate with the department of forestry in combining services of field men or wards. A joint salary or "per diem" allowance was provided for the wardens. The forester's salary was set at $3,000.00 a year. The commissioner of agriculture was authorized to hire assistants "as may be necessary to carry on this work."

The duties of the new position, Mr. Coleman said, will be the supervision of all forestry property; to encourage tree planting on public highways in particular; to grow, collect and distribute seedlings; to form junior forestry clubs; to cooperate with local citizens in the care of trees and planting of more trees; to provide for organized forest fire protection; and to cooperate with the federal government, state departments and landowners along such lines as will aid the state in the perpetuation of its forests, the promotion of tree growth and tree planting and the redemption of waste land for agricultural purposes.

Records Indicate California Squaw Is 120 Years Old

YOSEMITE, Cal., Aug. 6.—Apparently authentic records indicate that "Indian Lucy," a squaw living in Yosemite Valley, is 120 years old. She is believed to be one of the oldest women in the world.

Lucy lives in a typical Indian tepee not far from Camp Curry, but keeps out of sight of the tourists. She has difficulty in walking, but otherwise retains full possession of her faculties. She can remember clearly the events of 100 years ago. She was living in the valley when the first white men made their entrance and finds pleasure in relating the details of their occupation.

SWEDEN HAS NEW CITIZENSHIP LAW

Must Now Remain in Country Five Years to Be Naturalized As Citizen.

By Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, Aug. 6.—It will be harder to become a citizen of Sweden, now easier to remain one after the beginning of next year, according to a new law which has just been passed.

The new citizenship regulation requires five years' residence, instead of three, for the naturalization of immigrants. According to the old law a Swedish woman lost her citizenship upon marriage to a man who was not a Swedish citizen. But under the new law such a married woman retains her national allegiance to Sweden until she becomes naturalized under the laws of some other country.

Under the old law Swedes residing abroad for a period of ten years automatically lost their citizenship, even though they had not become naturalized in the country of residence. But under the new law a Swedish citizen by birth who has been domiciled in Sweden retains his political status wherever he resides unless he should become naturalized in some other country. Persons whose Swedish citizenship has lapsed under the old law may have it renewed so as to come within the scope of the new law by a simple written application to any Swedish consulate or legation.

S. Heidenberg, exalted ruler.

The committees, the Civic Committee, headed by Nathan Kahn, and the Committee on Arrangements, headed by Harry G. Evans, have been working on the programme, which is expected to be the most elaborate ever prepared for visiting Elks.

WAR HERO RETIRES TO LIFE ON FARM

Sergeant Woodfill Now Typical Farmer at His "Old Kentucky Home."

By Associated Press.
FT. THOMAS, Aug. 6.—The Woodfill farmstead is much like any other in Kentucky, except for a large flag pole on the lawn. The owner, a Kentucky farmer, is Samuel Woodfill, whom General Pershing called the greatest hero of the world war.

The farm is well out in the open country beyond this outpost in northern Kentucky, it is across the river from Cincinnati.

Sergeant Woodfill, single-handed, defeated nineteen of the enemy, put three machine guns out of commission and returned with three captives and himself, the sole survivors of the uneven battle.

The American government gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor, its highest honor to a soldier. France made him a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. The Italian Montegrino government added decorations.

The new Kentucky farmer was in the Fifth Division took part in the Meuse Argonne and St. Mihiel offensives and was in a defensive sector in the Vosges Mountains.

He served in the Philippine Insurrection and on the Mexican border.

He was sent to Ft. Thomas when he enlisted years ago; went to the Spanish American war; returned to this fort; and has married Blossom Wilshire whom he met here as the daughter of his host.

Sergeant Woodfill has retired from the army. He and Mrs. Woodfill spend their time quietly. They raise what they can use and sell the rest.

"This is just our old Kentucky home," Mrs. Woodfill said.

His principal interest in things military is promotion of relief work for ex-service men, Sergeant Woodfill said.

Seven New Cases of Typhoid In Knoxville

Knoxville, Aug. 6.—Seven new cases of typhoid fever were reported yesterday, four of that number being reported from Loudale, Dr. M. F. Haygood, city health officer, announced yesterday. The cases reported from Loudale are believed to have resulted from drinking spring water while those closer in are attributed to contagion, which the health officer says is likely to keep the disease going until late in the fall unless proper precautions are taken, inoculation being the most important and destruction of flies second.

LOEB STRUCK BLOW

Dr. Glueck Claims Loeb Confessed Striking Victim With Chisel—Defendant Is Unmoved.

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Neither Nathan Leopold nor Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks will testify in the efforts of the defense to show mitigating evidence to evade the death penalty. This was made clear today by Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel.

Ten or twelve witnesses follow the attorneys on the stand, including some students of the University of Michigan. It is said that no members of the family will testify but that they may be played on the stand to identify exhibits.

Dr. Bernard Glueck, of New York, testified today that Loeb told him that he, Loeb, struck the blow with the chisel which resulted in Franks' death. Both youths in their confession accused the other of having struck the blow. Loeb remained impassive when Dr. Glueck testified. Leopold looked forward slightly, a grimace on his face.

"Fear and caution, the instincts of self-preservation," governed the actions of the boys at times both in planning the murder and in seeking to evade responsibility for it were qualified admissions the prosecutor succeeded in forcing from the mental pathologist. The state's attorney went over the details of the youths' confessions, step by step with each item followed by the question "what was working then, intellect or emotion." Thus he tried to show that the crime grew from the youths' admittedly high intellects, rather than from their immature emotions.

Mr. Crowe also tried unsuccessfully to bring from the mental expert an admission that boys of the intellectual attainments of Loeb and Leopold could have deceived him as to their undeveloped emotions it having been testified that they were below seven years in emotional age.

The prosecutor, not satisfied with the judge's ruling on the insanity angle, hammered away at it throughout the cross examination.

Judge Caverly told newspaper men, after adjournment that he would turn over to postal inspectors some of the 300 to 400 letters regarding the case that he receives daily.

"Anyone who writes a letter to the judge in a situation like this is attempting to influence the court's opinion and is therefore in contempt of court," said the judge. "There are federal and state laws covering this point."

The hearing promises to continue at least a fortnight longer, in the opinion of Clarence S. Darrow, chief of defense counsel. "And then I am making a conservative estimate."

MR. KELSEY
IN MIDDLESBORO

The coming of Mr. Harlan P. Kelsey to Middlesboro yesterday as a representative of the Appalachian Mountain Club and the national park commission, is of especial significance. The site for a national park or parks in this section of the south, has not been definitely selected and will not, probably, for some little time to come.

Thus far there has been little organized effort to secure Lincoln Memorial Park. Just over the mountains in Tennessee is a great university. Not great perhaps in matter of millions of endowment; but in the number of its students as compared to the great universities of the land but great in its works. A university which takes its name from the Great Emancipator and that stands at the meeting ground between the north and south. A university whose students are the grandchildren of the men whose blood was shed in internecine conflict and whose descendants meet under one flag and with the one purpose of giving the best in them in thought and action to the nation of which this flag is the emblem.

This school has offered a free donation in acreage towards the park. Hundreds of square miles can further be secured by condemnation proceeding through the national park commissioners. The days of free land for parks, at least in the east, are past. The government buys these lands and they are turned over as a heritage for the use of generations yet unborn. The land that will be turned into Lincoln National Park, if it becomes a park, is of little value outside of a recreational one—its lack of natural resources and its topography forbids commercial use.

The making of this park vitally affects not only this city, this entire section of three states but it effects the health and enjoyment of the uncounted thousands that will make their yearly northerly and southerly pilgrimage through Cumberland Gap, over the great natural highway that winds at the foot of its craggy acclivities. Its making means much to Lincoln Memorial University. It assures a great future for the school. It means much to this city, to Pineville; to Bell, Harlan, Knox, Claiborne, Lee and Wise counties. It means that the people of the section thus embraced, and their posterity will have a great national recreational ground in their immediate neighborhood. It means additional valuation to every piece of property within fifty miles of the Gap.

The fact that Mr. Kelsey came here after it was understood that the Gap site was not to be considered at this time, should give renewed hope to every one interested in seeing Lincoln National Park established. It should result in an organization that should be as wide as the section of which the park will be the center, and it should be of sufficient breadth to take in everyone interested and who are willing to give the park project their support.

Four teachers have been added to the faculty; $5,000 outlay in books will be added to the library; and new equipment installed in the laboratory, it was announced.

BRITAIN SEEKS
NEW COUNTRIES
FOR EMIGRANTS

New U. S. Law Places Problem on British Government.

APPLIES TO CANADA

Seventy Per Cent Will Fail to Gain Admittance to This Country During Year.

Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—In view of Great Britain's reduced quota under the new United States immigration law, British authorities interested in the movement of emigrants are turning their eyes to other countries and to the Dominion of Ireland in an effort to provide an outlet for the surplus population of the islands. It has been estimated that more than 70 per cent of the British applicants for entry into the United States during the year 1924-25 will be unsuccessful, and a large proportion of these will seek admission into other lands.

Absorption by the Dominions of the agriculturalists among the emigrants is simple compared to the problem of caring for the artisans and skilled laborers, according to the authorities. A recent report issued by a delegation which visited New Zealand declared that that Dominion's source of wealth and prosperity was fundamentally based upon agricultural and pastoral pursuits, the development of which must be the chief concern of her people.

To a lesser degree this applies to the present case to Canada, Australia and South Africa, and for that reason most of the British emigrants being admitted to these Dominions are of the agricultural class. Large numbers of skilled laborers in the Clyde-side industrial district of Scotland and other manufacturing districts, who had planned to enter the United States, have found even though the unemployment among their class, which has been gradually diminishing during the last year, still remains serious. It has been estimated that more than 90,000 persons are awaiting American visas in the Glasgow district alone, although approximately only 8,000 can be granted under the new quota. This is about one-third of the number of visas granted last year.

Although Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, in addition to Canada are endeavoring to attract agriculturalists, it is pointed out that many of this class would prefer to enter the United States because of the lower transportation costs involved. Although the Dominion governments concerned are offering assistance in great measure, financial difficulties enter considerably into any land settlement schemes on a large scale, and large numbers of the intending emigrants have found themselves without any alternative but to remain in the British Isles for this year at least.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY R. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Let's hurl another brick-bat at Washington, the "beautiful capital." Let's try to get another peek behind the false fronts behind which this city lives.

Washington's population is not a "producing" population. Although it is inclined, as a city, to turn its nose up at other cities, it is in no sense self-sustaining. It is parasitic. Actually, not figuratively, it lives off the rest of the country.

Washington's population falls into three distinct classes.

First—Employees and officials of the United States government.

Second—Tradesmen and their employees, who feed and clothe the employees and officials of the government.

Third—"Retired" individuals of wealth, with social or political aspirations, who find in life at the capital an opportunity to serve their own interests as well as their own pleasure, by being "in the swim" of capital affairs.

The result of this condition is that the only group with any permanent, abiding interest in the development of the city is the second—the group which lives off the less permanent and less Washington-minded part of the population.

Many thousands of Washington residents, persons who have lived here for years, never think of Washington as "home."

"Home" is where they came from when they first got their job with Uncle Sam. It is where they keep their "voting residence." It is where they expect to return when they quit the government service.

In the meantime, with no voice as to how the city is to be run, with only a "temporary" interest in its affairs, they accept unsatisfactory housing and transportation, high prices, and mediocre service, and the dozen and one annoyances and inconveniences that beset the existence of the average sojourner here, as the lot of a temporary dweller anywhere, and make the best of it with a minimum of protest.

Among this group—and it is one of the largest in Washington—there is little loyalty to the capital city. It has taken from them in full measure for what it has given. It never becomes their city, their home.

They now know too well the rear sides of those false fronts which first fascinated them. They may "like" Washington, but their love remains steadfast with Kankakee, Kalamazoo and Walla Walla.

One of the difficulties with Washington, on the material side of its evolution, has been its intensive development.

Washington is limited by the boundaries of the District of Columbia. It cannot expand. It cannot spread. It cannot sprout extensive suburban areas of comfortable homes and annex them as part of the parent city.

Anything outside the 73 square miles of the District of Columbia never can hope to be a part of Washington.

You may be two miles from the White House, in Virginia, but you are an outlander.

You may be five miles from the White House, and in Maryland, and you are likewise outside the pale.

But you may be seven miles from the White House, and still inside the remotest point of the District Line, and the rest of the United States will pay 10 per cent of your city taxes.

The result of these fixed limits to what may ever be included in the Cardui.

Bristol, Va.—"I can sleep good at night now, something I have never done before in my life," says Mrs. Deana Hawks, of 712 Prospect St., this city, "and it is due to Cardui."

"I was always nervous and tossed when I should have been asleep, but since I took Cardui it has strengthened me, and my general health is so improved that many of the ills from which I have suffered for years have fled."

"I used to go to bed tired and, when I would get up in the morning, I was still tired. Now I feel like doing a day's work in my garden or in the house, and I owe all this good health to Cardui, for I had suffered for years until I took it."

"I had had female trouble for years and once, for six months, I was flat on my back. I am glad to recommend to other women a medicine which has helped me."

If you are nervous and run-down in health, suffering as Mrs. Hawks describes above, it is probable that Cardui will greatly help you. Try it. NC-157 checking the first month's payment by oil companies of the new three cents gasoline tax. They had before them reports of wholesalers of July's sales.

The tax is in accordance with the law passed through the legislature by Rep. G. Lucien Drury, Morganfield,
Union county, approved by Gov.
Wells.
Sales in Kentucky from time the law became effective June 18, to July 1, totaled 2,563,142 gallons, W. H.
Shanks, auditor, said. Collections turned over to treasurer Dishman totalled $79,894.28.

Sixty-nine companies reported and eleven sent checks for over $1,000.00 each. These were: Standard Oil Company, 1,200,436 gallons; $36, lons, $1,006.38.

The smallest tax was paid by C. E.
Daugherty and Company, 103 gallons sold, taxed $3.09.

A three cents per gallon tax on all gasoline sold in Kentucky at wholesales imposed by the law, with a provision that no other excise or license tax is to be levied or assessed on gasoline by the state, or any county, city, town or other district.

The revenue is solely for "construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of roads and highways and for the payment of the interest on and for the creation of a sinking fund for the liquidation of state bonds, the purpose of the issue of which includes the construction or maintenance of roads."

The reference to bonds was put into the act to cover part of the revenue arranged to offset the sale of bonds, provided in the $75,000,000 bond issue.
The issue is incorporated in the state bond law. The law provides for submitting the question of issuing the bonds to the voters in November.

SAYS AUTO HAS OUTGROWN ROAD

Figures of Highway Engineer Show Roads Inadequate for Cars in the State.

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Aug. 6.—Highway construction is not keeping pace with motor vehicle production, Joe S.
Bugs, state highway engineer, said today. The automobile has outgrown the road, he said, speaking of conditions all over the country.

While motor vehicle registration has increased 2,500 percent in twelve years, expenditures for highway construction have increased only a little over 500 percent, he said.

"The motor vehicle is no longer looked upon as a luxury or as a mere pleasure car, it has become a necessity," Col. N. O. Gray, assistant tax commissioner, and head of the automobile department, said. "The pleasure that a farmer gets from his automobile is very small in comparison with the service it renders him in his business. More than 30 percent of the cars in this country are owned by farmers and persons living in the country or towns of fewer than 1,000 inhabitants."

Col. Gray's figures show 198,377 motor vehicles registered in Kentucky; 177,838 private passenger cars; 20,543 motor trucks; 841 motorcycles last year.

Total gross receipts last year totalled $2,678,732.88; the amount applicable to highway work by or under supervision of the state highway department totals $2,678,732.89, his figures showed.

Motor vehicle registration in Kentucky in the five preceding years, Col.
Gray showed as:

1918	65,884
1919	90,008
1920	112,683
1921	126,802
1922	151,021

In 1920, he said, 99,437 passenger cars were registered; in 1921, there were 111,777; and in 1922, there were 136,627.

Trucks and commercial cars in 1920
in Kentucky totalled 13,246 he said;
in 1921, there were 15,025; in 1922, there were 17,391.

OWENSBORO, Aug. 6.—Further linking of railway traffic between north and south is seen in news developments at Owensboro, on the Ohio river, just south of the Mason Dixon line.

A railroad, from here to Elmore,
Indiana, 84 miles, is proposed. E. T.
Franks, former collector of internal revenue and now head of the vocational board at Washington, is named as president of the new company, the Owensboro, Rockport & Chicago railway company, in the filing of articles of incorporation.

Application has just been made with the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to build the road.

The new line will be an electric railway, Ernest Rowe, attorney, said.
Connections will be with the Louisville & Nashville; the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis and Illinois Central at Owensboro; and with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul at Elmore, he said. Capitalization will be two and one-half million dollars, he said.

~ owns the Railroads

Fifty million Americans—nearly one half of our total population, and more than twice the number that have ever voted in a presidential election—are directly interested in railroad securities. Read this statement again, and consider the enormous responsibility that rests with the managements of the carriers in handling such a trust fund.

About two million citizens are owners of railroad stocks and railroad bonds; their names appearing on the record books. The remaining 48 million people are no less owners of these securities, the somewhat less directly. Two billion dollars worth of railroad securities are owned by the forty million people who compose the life insurance companies; for 25% of the reserves of these companies has been invested in railroad stocks and bonds.

One out of every four Americans has a savings account, and more than one billion dollars of savings bank funds are invested in railroad securities. The great fire insurance companies, with thirty million policies protecting the property in the United States, are heavy investors in railroad securities.

Remember these things when you hear the railroads attacked by poorly posted and in some instances vicious people. The welfare of American railroads is your welfare. Help them to continue the splendid work that they are now doing, and remember also that you and your neighbors are the real owners of the railroads.

Credit for some of these figures is given in "The American Way" Vol. No. 2, of the Bank of Manhattan Company Library.

Fountain of Youth Found

One hundred members of the Epworth League of the M. E. Church, South, last night discovered and partook of that which Ponce de Leon failed to find—the Fountain of Youth. A splendid imitation of this fabled elixir of life was presented by a large block of ice in which various colored flowers were frozen, with containers of lemonade on the ice.

The Leaguers met at the Church at 7:30 for the progressive social, each of them bringing a rock and a safety pin. The members, linked by chains, prison fashion, marched out Cumberland avenue. At Mrs. L. L. Humphrey's home, they found "Reelfoot Lake." Here they fished and caught a variety of specimens, ranging from smoked herring to candy canes. At Mrs. D. G. Hink's residence they found the "Fountain of Youth." The liquid refreshments were supplemented by doughnuts. Games were then enjoyed and fortunes were told by "zypies."

The "Hockey Mountains" on West Cumberland avenue, were next visited. Here a fire was built and when the glow reached its brightest watermelons were served. Music was furnished by the Humphrey band.

The progressive social was the culmination of the membership drive in which the four divisions were represented by touring cars. The "overland" group, winner of the membership race, was host to the other groups.

"THREE WEEKS" AS AUTHOR WROTE IT

Mrs. Glyn Achieves Results in Film Not Attained in Famous Love Story.

"Three Weeks" is coming to the screen exactly as I wrote it. That is the statement made by Elinor Glyn, world-famous authoress in New York on her return to London from the Goldwyn studios in Los Angeles, where she assisted Alan Crosland in the filming of her most famous novel, the film version of which is coming to the Manning theatre tomorrow (Thursday).

Mrs. Glyn, in her statement, declared: "I send a message to all those who are deeply and sincerely in love with 'Three Weeks,' to see it when it comes to the screen. Flappers and flits may stay away, for this story is only for those who understand, who are ready to make sacrifice for their love, for after all, love does not inspire sacrifices is not love at all."

"Three Weeks," as a book, received a lot of the type of publicity it did not deserve. I was determined that when it came to the screen it would be a genuine and a real portrayal of my book. I spent every minute on the set. I oversaw the making of the costumes. I myself wrote the titles, so how when I myself leave the finished product in America, I do so with genuine happiness and joy in my heart.

"The screen is getting more and more sincere in its efforts every day. And before long it will be the only medium through which genuine art and feeling are conveyed to the public."

"My idea has always been to rid a picture of the false note. The public response to everything that is real and true."

"So in my production of 'Three Weeks' I had a free hand. I had only to make my characters human, as they were in the book, live and suffer on the screen. My cast is perfect. My costumes are what ladies and gentlemen would wear. The servants' uniforms were made in England. Everything is as it should be."
